FOREWORD

THE territory surrounding Pittsburgh is divided by the three rivers into three sections, and this natural division has been followed in the arrangement of this book.

The first section, beginning with Route 1, includes the roads to the east of the City, between the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. In the second section, beginning with Route 100, are the roads leaving the City in a southerly direction between the Monongahela and Ohio Rivers, while the third section, beginning with Route 200, includes the roads to the west and north between the Ohio and Allegheny Rivers.

Liberty and Federal (formerly Sixth) Streets, has been selected as the natural center of the business section of the City from which all milage for the through routes has been calculated. For roads of a more local character, which start from East Liberty, Penn and Highland Avenues has been selected as a starting point, this being the center of the East End or resident district.

Tourists wishing to reach Liberty and Federal Streets from this point should take S. Highland Avenue, turning right on Centre Avenue, then right on Craig Street to the Grant Boulevard, which follow to end, here turn right on Seventh Avenue, then left on Liberty Street to Liberty and Federal Streets, 5.0 mi.

Police regulations restrict the use of Smithfield Street to north bound, and of Wood Street to south bound traffic. The use of Fourth Avenue is also restricted to vehicles going east and of Third Avenue to those bound west.

The Automobile Club asks to be notified of any errors which may be discovered by users of this book, that they may be corrected in subsequent editions and also requests that our advertisers may be favored with your patronage, assuring you of fair treatment by any and all of them.

OBJECTS

While essentially an owners club, the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh is in reality a business association of motorists working for what is for the best interests of the sport rather than a social organization, and the Club House is maintained chiefly as an office and headquarters, where members and tourists may consult maps and road books and secure desired information.

The objects of the organization are to secure for its members, and all motorists as well, better touring conditions, better roads, more liberal laws and freedom from injustice or persecution, and also to aid in suppressing reckless violations of the law. To do this the Club needs and should have the aid of every motorist in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. It is not a question of your needing this Club, but of the Club needing you. You share the benefits of its work and should give it your support.

A FEW THINGS ACCOMPLISHED

The Club has erected Danger and Direction signs in the neighborhood of Pittsburgh, and has compelled the Township Supervisors in Allegheny County to properly mark the roads under their care.

It has secured the improvement of important streets and roads and the betterment of our dirt roads.

It has put an end to a number of speed traps operated by grafting officials and has secured fair treatment for the motorist.

It has succeeded in defeating several local ordinances which would have been harmful to the best interests of motor car owners.

It offers and has paid rewards for the arrest of any one stealing or injuring a car belonging to its members.

Members receive prompt notification of speed traps, closing or oiling of roads, etc.

The legal advice and services of the Club's Attorney are at the disposal of the members free of charge in matters pertaining to violations of the Motor Vehicle Law.

The Club is always "On the Job" in the interest of its members.

(AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF PITTSBURGH APPLICATION BLANK ON OTHER SIDE).

The Federation was organized in 1906 to secure better roads in Pennsylvania, better touring conditions, more liberal laws affecting motoring, and to protect motorists against unjust legislation.

As a result of its untiring efforts a new Motor Vehicle Law was enacted in 1909, and much was accomplished in the line of better road legislation, the Federation being largely responsible for the present State Highway Law.

The Federation has employed counsel and successfully defended suits attacking the present Motor Vehicle Law.

It is an absolute fact that you would now be paying a greatly increased registration fee, in all probability the $25.00, $50.00, and $75.00 schedule as incorporated in Senator McNichol's bill, had it not been for the organized work of the Federation during the session of 1911.

This work will continue and broaden as the Federation gains in strength and importance, and as the number of affiliated clubs increases and the interest in and support of the State work grows.

Fifty-six clubs are enrolled with almost 10,000 members. This membership is increasing and new clubs are being organized, the majority of which are actively taking up work which benefits their members.

The Federation will issue a large touring map of Pennsylvania during June 1911, a copy of which will be sent to each member.

The Federation is the Pennsylvania Division of the American Automobile Association, so that its clubs and individual members share all of the benefits of membership in the National body.

They receive the American Motorist monthly and at their service without extra charge is the immense fund of information in the hands of the Touring Information Board.

During nine months of 1911, 7,500 letters asking for touring information were answered and hundreds of tourists called at headquarters personally.

The office of the Secretary of the Federation is 5905 Baum Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

If you do not belong to a Federation Club do your part to assist in the work it is doing by becoming an Individual Member—Annual Dues, $2.00—include full membership in the American Automobile Association and a year's subscription to the American Motorist.

AFTERNOON RUNS IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY

Many owners of motor cars do not realize the beauty of the country surrounding Pittsburgh, nor do they take advantage of the fact that we have 430 miles of improved roadway in the county to which 30 additional miles will be added during 1912.

Mueller's Allegheny County Road Map, on which the improved roads are plainly indicated, and which is revised each year, is the best guide in planning local runs, and one that need be supplemented merely by information as to the city streets leading to these roads. (The map referred to can be purchased from J. R. Weldin & Co. Price 50c).

Probably the most attractive ride is over the Freeport Road (Route 300) which extends from the Borough of Sharpsburg through Cheswick and Tarentum, following the Allegheny River. Above Tarentum it still parallels the river, but follows the crest of the ridge. At Freeport it connects with a State-aid road leading toward Kittanning, giving a continuous stretch of brick and macadam for 30 miles. A number of improved roads intersect the Freeport Road. The County bridge may be crossed to Hulton Station where the return trip to East Liberty can be made either by turning to the right through Oakmont, Verona and Sandy Creek, or by continuing direct up hill through Milltown, where, by bearing to the left, a still more extended ride through North Bessemer and Center can be planned.

At Cheswick, Route 287 can be followed through Rural Ridge to Culmerville, where, by turning right, Tarentum can be reached via Millerstown, Route 301A, or the Kittanning Road taken to the left through Dorseyville, Route 283A.

At Hites the river can be crossed to New Kensington, where turn right on Route 32A through Parnassus to Logan's Ferry, then up long hill to North Bessemer.

At Tarentum, Route 301 can be taken through Millerstown and Culmerville and the return made either over the Kittanning Road, Route 283A, or via Cheswick, Route 287A.

Center can be reached by either Frankstown or Lincoln Aves., Routes 45 or 34. Here the road to the left connects at Unity with the roads to East Liberty, Oakmont or Logan's Ferry. By turning to the right at Center on Route 40A, Monroeville on the Northern Pike is reached, where, by turning right, then left, a macadam road can be followed into Turtle Creek, or by turning left, Pitcairn can be reached over Route 39A. The return to Pittsburgh in either case being over either the Greensburg Pike or the Ardmore Boulevard, Route 1A.

The roads in the vicinity of Elizabeth can be best reached via Carrick and Clairton, Route 102. The same outlet being used for the roads to the south of the Monongahela. The Brownsville Road can be followed to Broughton, Route 104. For Library or Castle Shannon, follow Route 105, which connects with the Washington Road at Mt. Lebanon, where the return to Pittsburgh can be made via Banksville or Carnegie.

Very delightful afternoon runs to the south of the city can be planned by making a start through the South Side, following Route 140 to Crafton, where the Wind Gap Road to McKees Rocks can be followed, Route 148, or by taking the Steubenville Pike, the Coraopolis Heights section can be reached by either the Beaver Road, Route 147, or via Clinton and Carnot, Route 146. The new bridge crossing the Ohio River below Coraopolis, permits a return through Sewickley Heights with its magnificent summer homes.

This section can also be reached from the East End by following Routes 210 or 211 through Millvale, or less directly by crossing the Highland Bridge and taking Route 248.

The Butler Three Degree Road to Valencia, Route 246, is also a beautiful ride, a macadam road connecting it with Bakerstown, where the return can be made via the Plank Road.

On this side of the Allegheny River are other very attractive roads. Among these the Middle Road, which leaves the Butler Plank at Undercliff and the Creek Road, starting from the same point, which meets the Kittanning Road and can be made a pleasant variation for the return trip.

Many beautiful rides can be planned through Washington, Beaver and Butler counties, by persons who are not disposed to confine themselves to the improved roads, making Butler, Kennedy's Mill, Mercer, Darlington, Ligonier, Frankfort Springs, Washington or Uniontown the objective points.

TESTING ODOMETERS

All motorists who wish to keep accurate records of runs or the distance traveled by their cars, should test their odometers on a measured stretch.

The William Pitt Boulevard from the south curb line of Fifth Avenue to the Greenfield Avenue Bridge, measures 26,609 feet or 5.039 miles.

The Grant Boulevard from the north curb line of Center Avenue to the north curb line of Seventh Avenue, measures 15,405 feet or 2.918 miles.

For these measurements, taken in the center of the roadway, we are indebted to Mr. N. S. Sprague, Superintendent of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Construction.

THE CHOICE OF ROUTES BETWEEN PITTSBURGH AND PHILADELPHIA

The Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Turnpike can well be termed one of the historic highways of America, for it dates back to an early Colonial road leading from Philadelphia, through Lancaster, to Fort Loudon. From this point, however, the trader prior to 1755, was compelled to resort to pack horses to transport his goods over the Indian trail leading to forts and settlements upon the extreme frontier.

In 1755 Col. Burd, for the purpose of intersecting the road cut from Cumberland for Braddock's expedition, opened a road from Fort Loudon to Bedford, thence following the route of the present Glade Road to the site of Mount Pleasant.

In 1758 the direct road via Ligonier was opened for Forbes' expedition against Fort Duquesne. It followed to a great extent the line of the present pike as far as Ligonier, beyond which point it kept to the north, the western part of its course, which lay between the present road and the Northern Pike, being now completely abandoned.

This road, known as the Forbes or Pennsylvania Road, began to be used as a wagon road in 1785, at which time there were only five stores in Pittsburgh. It was then little more than a trail, and owing to the steep grades, wagons were compelled to use small trees as drags on the down grades; but the road was gradually improved, the section between Philadelphia and Lancaster being macadamized in 1794, which was the first macadam road in this country. A line of coaches from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh was established in 1804, seven days being required for the journey, and in 1806 the construction of the present turnpike was authorized.

The scenery is magnificent and many interesting old stone and log houses and taverns are passed, some in ruins, but many occupied and in good repair.

With the improvement of the direct road via Ligonier, which is now under way, there is no longer any division of opinion as to the preferable route across the State, for this the shortest, is also undoubtedly the best.

Several years ago Col. Geo. F. Huff improved a short stretch east of Greensburg, which had previously been almost impossible in wet weather. In 1910 a very rough stretch through the Chestnut Ridge was improved by private subscription, as the result of the efforts of Mr. J. O'Hara Denny. In 1911 the State built a short stretch west of Irwin, and Allegheny County completed the entire portion of the road within her limits.

During 1911, the State also inaugurated the work of constructing and maintaining State Highways by taking over the portion of this road west of Bedford, and the worst places have already been improved, notably the section between Ligonier and Jenner. Water breakers have been removed and the work is being pushed vigorously.. In 1912 the improvement of the road from Pittsburgh to Bedford will be completed and operations will be extended to the rough section to the east and west of Gettysburg, and no one need fear to make this trip.

The hotels along the route have also been improved greatly, and good accommodations can be secured at Greensburg, Bedford, McConnellsburg, Chambersburg, Gettysburg and Lancaster.

Route No. 2, the Glade Road, lying to the south of the "Pike" is, by its most direct connection with Pittsburgh, 8.3 miles longer than Route 1, but if the better, although less direct route via Greensburg is followed, the distance is 14 miles longer. The road is less traveled and is much more stony than the old Pike and it has, in wet weather, the disadvantage of several stretches of clay, particularly between Manns Choice and Bedford. It affords finer views of the mountain scenery, however, as it follows the crest of the ridges, whereas the Ligonier road lies more along the side of the mountain and offers fewer extended views. This road meets Route 1, 4½ miles west of Bedford.

Many tourists have in the past preferred Route 3, via Johnstown, as being the easiest and fastest. If the Northern Pike is followed between Pittsburgh and New Alexandria, the distance is 8.5 miles longer than Route 1. If, however, the usual route via Greensburg and Crab Tree is taken, the difference becomes 16½ miles.

This route has more clay road than either of the others already mentioned, and has little to recommend it, as the scenery does not compare with that on the other roads. The Allegheny Mountains have been burned over where this road crosses the summit, and little is to be seen but rocks and charred stumps. However, it eliminates entirely the pull over the Laurel Ridge and the climb over the Alleghenies is shorter. The road on the eastern side of the Alleghenies, however, is red clay overhung with trees. In many places it is only wide enough for one vehicle and is 10 per cent grade, steeper than any place on the other roads. It is very dangerous in wet weather. This road meets Route 1 at Bedford.

The only remaining route east, which can pretend to lay claim to being a direct road to Philadelphia is Route 45, via Indiana, Altoona, Lewistown and Harrisburg. It is made up of a series of ordinary country roads with several short stretches of improved highway, and was never a direct through road to the west. It avoids the mountains almost entirely and there is little scenery out of the ordinary. The condition of the road is largely a matter of weather. The only very rough stretch was through the Lewistown Narrows, and that is now being improved by the State.

At Harrisburg there is a choice of two routes to Philadelphia. The longer, but better, via Reading, makes the total distance 342.5 miles. That via Lancaster is 337.2 miles or 40 miles longer than Route 1. This route, however, is a very good one for tourists desiring to go from Pittsburgh to Williamsport, Scranton or Easton.

Tourists wishing to go to Baltimore should follow Route 1 to Gettysburg, thence direct to Baltimore.

Tourists desiring to reach Washington, D. C., or the Shenandoah Valley have a choice of routes. The most direct is to follow Route 1 to McConnellsburg, thence via Hagerstown and Frederick to Washington, or to reach the Shenandoah Valley, bear south from Mercersburg to Williamsport and Martinsburg. In dry weather the shortest and best route for the Shenandoah Valley is to go to Somerset, thence via Berlin, Cumberland and Romney to Winchester, Va., Routes 23 and 171, the chief drawback being the lack of hotel accommodations en route, for even if the night is spent at Greensburg so that an early start can be made, it would prove a long day's ride to Winchester, and a night's stop in Cumberland should be avoided if possible.

The National Road, Route 170, from Washington, Pa., to Cumberland, Md., and thence to Hagerstown, Frederick and Washington, is exceedingly interesting from an historic standpoint, and much work is being done by both Pennsylvania and Maryland in rebuilding the road and bridges, but it is still rough traveling, particularly east of Hancock. It can be reached from Pittsburgh via several routes intersecting it at Washington, Beallsville or Uniontown.

CHOICE OF ROADS TO WASHINGTON, PA.

Washington can be reached by a number of different routes with very little variation in distance or character of road.

Possibly the easiest route for the stranger to follow is No. 126 via Carnegie and Bridgeville. The distance is 28.2 miles, of which 6.8 is clay and abandoned pike, stony and hilly, but the best road in wet weather.

There is also a road from Bridgeville via Marshalsea, Route 129, which is only one mile longer, but is harder for a stranger to follow.

The road from Bridgeville via Cecil, Route 130, which makes the distance to washington 30.3 miles, has nothing in particular to recommend it.

The route most generally used is via Mt. Lebanon and Clifton, No. 120, the distance is 28.2 miles. It also has 6.8 miles of clay road, the remainder being macadam.

Clifton can be reached in several ways from Pittsburgh, and between Clifton and Washington two other routes are given, Nos. 124 and 125.

No. 124 reduces the distance to Washington to 27.3 miles, but 10.5 miles of this is clay. Route 125 via McMurry, makes the distance 29.4 miles.

THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY

While the National Highway follows in its general direction the course of the road opened for Braddock's Army in 1754, which in turn was preceded by the Indian trail known as Nemacolin's Path, and crosses it a number of times, it follows the exact course of the old road in only a few places.

After the close of the French and Indian War the Military road was reopened and until 1812 was known as Braddock's Road.

The first wagon load of goods, 2,000 pounds, reached Brownsville in 1789, one month having been required for the 140 mile journey from Hagerstown. Some of the old taverns and an occasional mile stone date back to this period. One milestone near Frostburg having been erected during the Revolutionary War.

In 1812 work began on the National Road which was completed to the Ohio River in 1818. Mail coaches at that time made the 197 mile run from Hagerstown to Wheeling in 55 hours.

St. Louis was to have been the western terminus of the National Highway, but the project was abandoned before the Illinois section was completed.

The road has been shamefully neglected of late years, but both Pennsylvania and Maryland have now made special appropriations for its maintenance. The bridges have been repaired or rebuilt and several sections of the road have already been resurfaced, thirteen and a half miles having been completed east of Washington, in Pennsylvania, and about ten miles in Maryland. The eight and a half miles between Frostburg and Cumberland are also in good repair, but the remainder of the distance between Washington, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., is decidedly rough.

WASHINGTON, PA., TO HAGERSTOWN, MD.

At Washington's Spring, the Half King was encamped when the presence of the French in the neighborhood was discovered. It is on the line of Braddock's Road which crossed the pike at Braddock's grave and passed near the present site of Dunbar and Mount Pleasant. Further on this road passes near the scene of the attack upon Jumonville's party, May 28, 1754.

Braddock's Road crossed the Pike here and bore northwest, passing Washington's Spring.

47.4 (Elev. 1840 ft.), "Great Meadows," MT. WASHINGTON.

A lane through the farm yard of an old brick house on the north side of the road leads down to "Great Meadows." Two basins connected by a neck of swampy land, the whole about one and a half miles long by a quarter of a mile wide. The old roadway descended from the hills on the south, coming out on the eastern edge of the western basin. Here Washington's party camped when cutting the road for Braddock's Army and to this point he retreated after the attack upon Jumonville, and built Fort Necessity, the earth works of which can still be traced. At the engagement, July 3, 1754, Washington's party numbered 400. The enemy, 700 French and about 100 Indians, opened fire from the hills on the south. Washington purchased this land, about 234 acres, in 1769.

A lane through the farm yard of an old brick house on the south side of the road leads down to "Great Meadows," two basins connected by a neck of swampy land, the whole about one and a half miles long by a quarter of a mile wide. The old roadway descended from the hills on the south, coming out on the eastern edge of the western basin.. Here Washington's party camped when cutting the road for Braddock's army and to this point he retreated after the attack upon Jumonville, and built Fort Necessity, the earth works of which can still be traced. At the engagement, July 3, 1754, Washington's party numbered 400. The enemy, 700 French and about 100 Indians, opened fire from the hills on the south. Washington purchased this land, about 234 acres, in 1769.

Any officer serving such warrant shall take the defendant before the magistrate or justice of the peace of the county in which the defendant is found, who shall take bail for his appearance before the magistrate or justice of the peace who issued the warrant.

REPEAL.—Section 25. The act approved April twenty-third, nineteen hundred and three, entitled "An act relating to automobiles or motor vehicles, providing for the registration thereof, regulating the speed limit upon public highways within this Commonwealth, providing for the licensing of the operators thereof and fixing the amount of the license, regulating the service of process and of proceedings in actions of damages arising therefrom and prescribing the penalties for the violation of the same," and the act approved April nineteenth, nineteen hundred and five, entitled "An act relating to automobiles or motor vehicles, regulating the speed limit upon the streets and public highways of this Commonwealth, providing for the licensing of the operators thereof by the State Highway Department, fixing the amount of said license, regulating the service of process and proceedings of actions in damages arising therefrom and prescribing the penalties for the violation of the provisions of the same," and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith shall be and the same are hereby repealed; Provided, however, That the method of licensing residents of this State, as set forth in section two, three, four and seven of the act approved April nineteenth, nineteen hundred and five, entitled "An act relating to automobiles or motor vehicles, regulating the speed limit upon the streets and public highways of this Commonwealth, providing for the licensing of the operators thereof by the State Highway Department, fixing the amount of said license, regulating the service of process and proceedings of actions in damages arising therefrom and prescribing the penalties for the violation of the provisions of the same" shall remain in full force and effect until December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and nine, when the method of registering motor vehicles and licensing drivers as set forth in this act shall become effective.

IN CASE OF ARREST

If you are arrested for an alleged violation of the Act of April 27, 1909, and feel that you are unjustly accused or the victim of grafting officials, you should First—Demand a copy of the affidavit or information made by the arresting officer, setting forth in detail the alleged misdemeaner or violation of the law, of which you are accused, as provided for in Sec. 17 of the Act. Then you should secure a bondsman and appear before the magistrate, stating that you desire to have your case tried before a jury in the Quarter Sessions Court, as provided for in Sec. 18, giving bail, or, if that is impossible, depositing with the magistrate an amount equal to the fine and costs which might have been imposed.

Upon bond being accepted it becomes the duty of the magistrate to forward the information, as in any other criminal case, to the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court, and thereafter the case will be presented to the Grand Jury for indictment and true bill. If a true bill is found the case will be tried before a jury. If the indictment is ignored, the Grand Jury places the costs either upon the prosecutor or upon the County.

If the magistrate should refuse to accept a bond without good cause, he can be mandamused and otherwise proceeded against for failure to comply with the law.

If, however, you submit to a trial before the magistrate and are convicted and fined, you must then proceed as in any other case of appeal from Summary Conviction before a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace. Secure a copy of the Justices' record and within five days present your petition to the Quarter Sessions Court for allowance of appeal, or if more than five days have elapsed and you are satisfied there is manifest error in the record, you can have a Writ of Certiorari in the Common Pleas Court, if applied for within twenty days from date of judgment.

If the local authorities erect "Danger, Run Slow," signs at places which are not congested or otherwise dangerous, a Court of Equity would doubtless grant relief and order such signs removed.

TO AVOID ARREST OR ACCIDENT

SPEED—The legal speed limit is 12 miles per hour at dangerous places and in built-up or congested districts, provided signs "Danger, Run Slow," are erected, by the authorities having the highways in charge, the lettering to be 5 inches high and the signs to be so placed as to be plainly legible; elsewhere 24 miles per hour, except that the speed shall at no time exceed what is safe and reasonable, having regard to existing conditions.

HORNS must be sounded when overtaking vehicles and persons on the highway and at cross roads where a "Blow Horn" sign is erected, which is easily readible by the traveler approaching in either direction. The use of the Muffler Cut-Out is prohibited when passing other vehicles.

Don't pass a Trolley Car, that has stopped to receive or discharge passengers, on the side where passengers alight.

LICENSE TAGS—License tags must at all times be parallel with the axles, be kept clean and the light from the tail lamp must illuminate the rear tag at night.

LIGHTS—Two white lights in front and a red light in the rear are required one hour after sunset.

SLOW DOWN at cross streets and corners and keep to the right. Keep close to the curb if turning a corner to the right. Turn wide, passing center of street before doing so, when turning to the left.

Keep to the left of vehicles you are passing from the rear and, as far as possible, always keep to the right of the center of the street or road so that persons overtaking you are not compelled to either cross the street or pass you on the wrong side.
